

State Library

The circulation of The Review covers the field like the evening dew; several times larger than the combined newspapers of High Point, being read in practically every home in the city and in the suburbs. Advertisers take notice.

THE REVIEW

"High Point for High Point;" that's the slogan. Keep your money in High Point; trade with High Point merchants; buy everything you can in High Point at all times; that's the foundation for a Greater High Point

The Review is read and appreciated by that large body of people who buy four-fifths of the goods sold in High Point--the laboring people

Vol. 9 No. 7

High Point, N. C., Thursday, January 30, 1913

8 Pages

Leonard - Beavans - Stamey Company

OUR BIG SPECIAL SALE

Has been a Great Success. It will continue a Few Days Longer. You will be the loser if you fail to buy

A value-giving sale on everything, that will astonish you.

Act Quick

Come to see us and save money

Leonard - Beavans Stamey Company

ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

Last week the home of Mrs. Lovelace McIntyre on Centennial street was destroyed by fire in the early morning. Since that time there has been rumors of an arrest and yesterday a warrant was sworn out, charging her husband, L. E. McIntyre with setting fire to her house, the warrant it is learned being signed by Mrs. McIntyre.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

At a meeting of the School Board Monday night it was decided to ask the legislature for privilege of voting on another $50,000 for school purposes to take care of the rapidly increasing needs of the children of High Point. The charter will also be changed so as to make the maximum tax rate 50c. The matter of compulsory education was also brought forward and it is quite likely that the law will be applied in this direction also.

PLAYS

An "Interrupted Proposal" was given by local talent at the auditorium last night to a good audience. Remember the Chicago Ladies Orchestra is the attraction at the auditorium Friday night, being under the Lyceum Cour. See it.

CONTRACT LET

E. F. Segraves has been awarded the contract for brick work on the Highland Cotton Mills. Mr. Segraves is now doing the brick work on the new Elks home. He is a fine contractor and therefore keeps busy.

ANOTHER NEW ENTERPRISE

The Harrell Manufacturing Co., of High Point, N. C., has been incorporated with an authorized capital of $50,000, part of which has been paid in by J. M. Harrell, H. E. Field and R. H. Wheeler. The company will buy, sell and manufacture household and office furniture of all kinds.

This business is obliged to go forward with such men at the helm as Mr. J. M. Harrell, H. E. Field and R. H. Wheeler.

February 6th Is The Date

The House will give Aycock county advocates a hearing at 7:30 p. m., Feb. 6th. A large crowd from High Point and Thomasville and surrounding territory should be present.

MEMORIAL SERVICES BY RED MEN

Monday night, Feb. 19th, Chickasaw Tribe No. 32. Improved Order of Red Men, will hold memorial services in its wigwam, to which the public is invited. Hon. D. L. James, of Greenville, one of the South's finest orators and polished gentlemen, will make the principal address. Mr. James is the present chairman of the N. C. Dental Society.

"GIRLS INCOG."

This beautiful human-event play will be pulled off next Tuesday night under the auspices of Friendship hall, at the auditorium, and judging from the advance sale of seats a crowded house will on hand. This is one of the very best plays ever given here and deserves the best at the hands of the people. Aside from getting your money's worth and more you will be helping a very worthy cause.

We need Aycock County above everything. Don't let us fall down this time.

What has become of all of our railroads, anyway. Seems we have voted enough bonds to have a net work of railroads now entering our fine city. Where are we at, anyway, as the saying goes.

Mr. L. Carson Sinclair, has returned home from Salisbury, where he was operated upon for appendicitis. He is much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Frank Armfield have been blessed with a son, the interesting member of the family arriving Monday night.

The bill to create Aycock county is quite a lengthy one and we believe covers about everything needed and then some. It is too long to reproduce in these columns but after all is said and done, it simply states that we will be able to take care of ourselves nicely if given the chance and that the law will be carried out in every instance.

HIGH POINT MAN HUNTS FOR HIS ELOPING WIFE

Richmond, Va., Jan. 27.—John Hardgrave, 25 years old, of High Point, N. C., asked the police of South Richmond to-day to aid him in his search for his wife, Norma Sluder Hardgrave, who disappeared from home about a week ago. He believes she eloped with Baxter Webster, also of High Point, and he says he has reason to suspect that the pair are now in South Richmond. He was in tears as he told the story and before leaving the station left a photo of his wife with the police. He says he will take his wife back to High Point and forget the past, if she will return with him. The police promised to do all in their power to assist him.

There are six printing offices in High Point, representing less than $25,000 real value, all told, and room for plenty more.

We call attention to the article of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. in this issue. This young millionaire is engaged in a very worthy and patriotic cause.

Our readers will find many special features in today's paper. Don't fail to read the news on each of the 8 pages and especially the best part of the paper, the advertisers.

If a $25,000 enterprise shows up on the tax books at $5,000 is it right? We have it in cold figures from the owner and of course it can't be denied. Is this equalization when some property owners pay from 50 to 70 per cent of the real worth?

Mrs. D. H. Milton remains critically ill at her home on East Washington street, to the regret of her legion of friends.

THE ORIGIN, WORK AND PLANS OF THE BUREAU OF SOCIAL HYGIENE

The Bureau of Social Hygiene came into existence about two years ago, as a result of the work of the Special Grand Jury appointed to investigate the white slave traffic in New York City, which served during the first half of the year 1910. One of the recommendations made by it in the presentment handed up at the termination of its labors was that a public commission be appointed to study the social evil. The foreman of that body subsequently gave careful consideration to the character of the work which might properly be done by such a commission and the limitations under which it would operate. In this connection, separate, personal conferences were held with over a hundred leading men and women in the city, among whom were lawyers, physicians, business men, bank presidents, presidents of commercial organizations, clergymen, settlement workers, social workers, labor leaders, and reformers. These conferences developed the feeling that a public commission would labor under a number of disadvantages, such as the fact that it would be short lived; that its work would be done publicly; that at best it could hardly do more than present recommendations. The conviction also grew that the main reason why more permanent results had not been obtained by the various organizations which had dealt with the subject of the social evil during the past ten or fifteen years was that most of them were temporary. While active, they materially improved the situation, but as their efforts were relaxed, there came the inevitable return to much the same conditions as before. The forces of evil are never greatly alarmed at the organization of investigating or reform bodies, for they know that they are generally composed of busy people, who cannot turn aside from their own affairs for any great length of time to carry on reforms, and that sooner or later their efforts will cease, and the patient denizens of the underworld and their exploiters can then reappear and continue the traffic as formerly.

So the conviction grew that in order to make a real and lasting improvement in conditions, a permanent organization should be created, the continuation of which would not be dependent upon a temporary wave of reform, nor upon the life of any man or group of men, but which would go on, generation after generation, continuously making warfare against the forces of evil. It also appeared that a private organization would have, among other advantages, a certain freedom from publicity and from political bias, which a publicly appointed commission could not so easily avoid.

Now as to our attitude regarding a law to close the saloons on Sunday. It is well known by all who know anything about Adventists that they are uncompromisingly opposed to the saloon on all days of the week. We believe that they are a menace to the welfare of the state, and that they should not be permitted to carry on their destructive work; therefore we join in any movement to secure laws for closing the saloons entirely.

Looks like if High Point wanted a railroad she could get it, we mean a real competitive railroad and not a dummy line. That's what we need and must have if we ever expect to do really big things in the future.

Mrs. W. R. Wycks and son Odell of Chester, S. C. are visiting relatives here.

Wm. London has joined the freight office force of clerks.

(Continued next week)

IMPORTANT MEETING

Agent Proposed Sunday Legislation—Resolutions Drafted

The meeting held at the Seventh Day Adventist Church, Jan. 25, 1913 resolved itself into what might be termed a mass meeting, when resolutions were passed remonstrating against proposed Sunday legislation now before the United States Senate in Congress in Washington, D. C. The resolution were brought before the congregation by B. A. Rogers, Elder of the church, and were passed unanimously. They read as follows:

Whereas, The Johnston Sunday Bill, now pending in the Senate of the United States; is religious in its character, in that it is designed to foster the religious observance of Sunday, and,

Whereas, the exemption clause attached to one of the sections of this bill indicate most clearly its religious character, by exempting from the application of this section those who belong to a religious society which observe some other day of the week than Sunday as a Sabbath, and,

Whereas, religious legislation is contrary both to the spirit and letter of the Constitution of the United States, and if carried to its logical conclusion means a union of church and state, and the persecution of dissenters; therefore, —

Resolved, That we respectfully, but earnestly, remonstrate against the passage of this bill, or any other bill requiring the observance of Sunday as a rest day which may come before the Senate.

Similar resolutions were passed in every one of the 2000 Seventh Day Adventist churches in the United States, thus showing that about 70,000 members in this denomination alone are strongly opposed to any kind of Sunday legislation.

Elder Rogers said the reason Seventh Day Adventists are so vigorously opposed to the Johnston Sunday bill in Congress is because the passage of it would be the first step towards the union of church and state, which would ultimately bring persecution upon dissenters. It was stated that not only are Seventh Day Adventists opposed to Sunday legislation, but also thousands of others who love religious liberty.

In giving further reasons why his denomination is opposed to Sunday legislation, Elder Rogers said:

"Our denomination has always stood for the entire separation of church and state, and has earnestly opposed all attempts at religious legislation. Sunday laws we believe to be religious laws; therefore we are uncompromisingly opposed to all legislation in behalf of Sunday observance. Sunday is a religious institution; its observance is a religious act; a law enforcing that observance is a religious law; therefore we believe it should not exist in this country. We would be uncompromisingly opposed to any legislation for the enforcement of the seventh day of the week. The Sabbath is a religious institution, and its observance is a religious act, and from our standpoint it would be entirely wrong for the state to attempt any legislation for the observance of the seventh day of the week. The same may be said regarding baptism, prayer, or anything else pertaining to religion. We believe that Christ, the founder of the church, taught the complete separation of the church from the state; and this we believe, should be the attitude of every professed follower of him.

Now as to our attitude regarding a law to close the saloons on Sunday. It is well known by all who know anything about Adventists that they are uncompromisingly opposed to the saloon on all days of the week. We believe that they are a menace to the welfare of the state, and that they should not be permitted to carry on their destructive work; therefore we join in any movement to secure laws for closing the saloons entirely.

Looks like if High Point wanted a railroad she could get it, we mean a real competitive railroad and not a dummy line. That's what we need and must have if we ever expect to do really big things in the future.

Mrs. W. R. Wycks and son Odell of Chester, S. C. are visiting relatives here.

Wm. London has joined the freight office force of clerks.

AYCOCK COUNTY FIGHT TO BE MADE IN HOUSE

Says the Greensboro News:

Though it is evident that the majority of people living in Guilford, Randolph and Davidson counties do not look with favor upon the plan to dismember these counties that the county of Aycock may be created, there has, nevertheless, developed little organized opposition to the new county. It looks now as though only a small number of people will go to Raleigh next week to fight the Gold bill, which would create Aycock county when it comes up in committee. The principal reason for the lack of organized opposition is due to the fact that the people generally do not believe the Aycock county advocates have a ghost of a show at this session. Many members of the assembly have expressed themselves as opposed to the creation of any more counties at this time, and the opponents of the new county are of the opinion that the sentiment of the majority in the legislature is against increasing the number.

People who have been to Raleigh have noted the sharp contrast in the campaign being waged by the Aycock county supporters. Two years ago the High Pointers had a campaign headquarters and distributed souvenirs and favors promiscuously. This year the campaign is described as of the "gumshoe" sort, though it said a number of earnest and able workers are in Raleigh in behalf of Aycock county. The new county advocates, it is said, have laid their plans to keep under cover until the bill comes before the house, then they propose to put forth their greatest efforts. Of course, should the house kill the bill it will be "good night" for Aycock county at this session; but if the house does give its sanction the Aycock supporters propose to make a real demonstration before the senate.

In the opinion of Senator Hobbard and other members of the assembly who have expressed themselves, however, there is little probability of the new county measure getting past the house. If it should, however, the possibility of its passing the senate is said to be even more remote.

Sooner or later we will get it, brother!

HERE'S HOPING

The editor has received two letters from legislators, who are in sympathy with our new county movement, and have so expressed themselves. Three others we wrote said they would give us a fair and impartial hearing. Looks good, but we must leave no stone unturned for its success. Greensboro don't think we stand any show, but Greensboro don't do High Point's thinking every time.

In regard to the new county we trust that a report going the rounds is not true—that in the event the new county proposition falls down this time, that the legislature will be asked to allow High Point to extend the limits of the recorder's court, build a mammoth Municipal building and in a way offset the county project. On the face of the thing it looks pretty good, but when one looks into it more closely it doesn't look so good.

In this connection it has been asked why the City of High Point gave $12,500 for a lot near the post-office for a municipal building when it already had a good building on Jordan street and by buying the corner lot just above, could have made a jim dandy municipal building by building up to the present city hall. This lot would have been almost twice as large and could have been bought, we learn, just as cheap. Besides it is nearer the city of High Point and will be much nearer in a few years as the home builders are going northward instead of Southward.

Moffitt Furnishing Co. has its usual change of ad bespeaking exceptional values in all departments. Read it.

The Leonard-Beavans-Stamey Co. asks you to hurry if you want to take advantage of its big Clearance sale as it will close in a day or so. Read ad.

Thacker's Shoe Store is appealing for your business on a business basis, of selling you shoes all the time at a saving of 25 per cent. See ad.

D. F. Staley, the well known and reliable jeweler has a new ad in this issue. Look it up.

New Laces 5c

Do Your Spring Sewing Early!

New Wash Fabrics now on Display

Quite a liberal collection of the newest and most WANTED wash fabrics are here ready for your inspection—Gingham, Percals, Galateas, Madras, White Goods, Dimity check, long cloth, nainsook, cambrics, linens, lin-nom Killarney Linens, colored Linens, English wash Serges, curtain goods, wash Silks, Poplins, Ratines, Laces and Embroideries.

Silk Petticoats $1.59

The Moffitt Furnishing Company

10 PER CENT REDUCTION Shoe Sale!

For the Entire Month of FEBRUARY!

Beginning Saturday and continuing until the 1st of March.

OWING to the delay in getting Store Room last fall and the exceedingly MILD WINTER we find that we have more shoes than we care to carry, and to enable us to have all NEW STOCK for fall we are going to offer every pair of high shoes in our store to the people of High Point and vicinity for the month of February at a

Discount of 10 Per cent

This combined with the present CASH SYSTEM MARK makes this a value giving month for shoes, as we carry them in all LEATHERS, STYLE, PRICE and SIZE and every shoe in our store is NEW JUST FROM THE FACTORY. You can't afford not to give us a look and this is all we ask.

Thacker's Shoes for All

103 North Main Street
HIGH POINT, - - N. C.

The Little White Hearse

Comes to more homes because of Croup than for any other reason.

Gowans Preparation

Vanquishes Croup, Colds and Pneumonia

Being external no harm can come by using it on the children. Fathers and mothers certainly owe it to themselves and their little ones to keep always a bottle in the home. Three sizes: Twenty-five cents and 50 cents and one dollar. All druggists.

Big Reduction Sale For 10 Days

50c Fleeced lined underwear for 29c
Ladies 25c underwear for 17c
Also special bargains in ready-made skirts. Also an up-to-date line of ladies and Misses Coat suits and coats which I am selling at 1-3 the regular price:

$30.00 Coat Suits for	$10.00
24.00 Coat Suits for	8.00
18.00 Coat Suits for	6.00
15.00 Coat Suits for	5.00

Also a nice line of samples for Spring and Summer Tailor-Made suits for men and boys, furnished by the Universal Tailoring Co., the largest tailoring house in Chicago.

SOLOMON ROBINOWITZ

110 E. Washington St.

Bruce Craven

LAWYER

Wachovia Bank Building
HIGH POINT, N. C.

Collectious, Loans and General Practice

ABBOTTS CREEK ITEMS

Mr. Anderson Bodenhammer is having his timber sawed up by Mr. Hayworth.

Messrs. C. and Wills Spurgess have been very successful with their tobacco crop this year.

Mr. Robah Payne and brother A. L. Payne have built a large mill house near the old home and it will soon be ready for use. X Y. Z